In the selection of candidates for county office the Republicans of Harrison county determined to put men before the people, who not only represent the party but also stand for the county's best good. They are men who have not held office lately, some of them never, in fact, most of them have never been in office. They have not been actively identified with politics except to support and be loyal to the party, to which they belong and in which they believe. They are men who can be depended upon to act independently for the best interests of the county, regardless of politics. They are men who deserve not only the support of the party itself, and this includes all who profess to be Republicans, but also appeal strongly to the opposite party, because of their high character and eminent fitness. There is no reason why any Republican should not vote for them nor should any man, be he Democrat or Republican hesitate to give them his support, if he is favorable to competency and uprightness in office. Take John M. Flanigan for sheriff. Can any thing be said against him? Not, if one has regard for the truth. Go to the prosecuting attorneyship. What can be said against Will E. Morris for the place. He has never held office of moment. He is not in any manner corrupt, but is honorable, upright and loyal. Then there are the nominees for the House of Delegates. They are men of their own mind, men who are above reproach, men, who will not do the bidding of any one or set, men who will act independently, men who will be conscientious in the discharge of official duties. Randall for county commissioner is a man of the people and for the people. No objection can be brought against him. Thorn for the state senate, as every one knows, stands high both as a citizen and as a churchman, and nothing can be said about him that would be persuasive that he is not the right man for the place. Such a man is a credit to any county. When it comes to the judgeship, everyman who knows C. W. Lynch respects him and sincerely believes that he would be a man of justice, a man of fairness, a man of ability on the bench, and both the bar and litigants will have confidence in and respect for him. Note all these traits of the candidates on the Republican ticket, and you will be disgusted with the low, vile attacks on them by designing and selfish persons, who do not hesitate to attempt to ruin men's characters to advance themselves.

The Democratic party may prate all it pleases about the race question but the fact remains that it can not detract the public mind from the vital issues of the campaign. Every citizen of the state knows that the race question is not of moment and that there are issues that are of such importance that the Democratic party fears to touch them. West Virginia is not to be fooled on the negro question. Its people are too sane and sensible to give heed to the deceptive argument advanced by the Democratic politicians, who have not the nerve and candor to go before them on live and real issues. There is nothing in this state to alarm the white race, nothing to prejudice them against the colored race. Conditions are enlightened here compared with the South and none fear any danger from the colored people. There is none and every fair-minded man knows it. Scheming

Democratic politicians know it, but they have nothing with which to appeal to the people and they have adopted the race question as a bluff, but it has been so severely called that they would gladly take water there, if they had any thing else to make a campaign on.

The ring is composed of Democrats who have had a slight taste of office, and according to their mouthpiece have become grafters, and a few other schemers who want to be grafters. According to their own little sheet, they are growing rich off the county and they want a select few to get in with them and do the job to a finish. Now, the Telegram is not inclined to believe that they are quite as bad as their own paper proclaims them, but, if they want to stand for it, of course, we have no objection. But since the Democratic paper has stamped its own as so awfully bad, the people will beware.

The Democratic sheet openly says that the only ring there is in this county is composed of the colored people. Well, that may be but incidentally there is not another little ring in the office in the court house occupied by Democrats? While they are talking about court house rings, they should not forget that one the Democrats have. It is as bad as any could be.

While the mouthing is harping about illegal voting and so forth, it could very consistently along that line arraign several Democratic politicians and a Democratic officeholder or two in this city, as being criminally liable in that respect, but this is a matter it intentionally overlooks for the sake of political effect, which is a favorite expression with it.

Carpenter and Harmer did not get the vote. That is why they were not nominated and not because they advocated tax reform. The successful candidates also advocated that openly. It would be well for some not to misrepresent on this score, as they can have the matter in black and white, if they but take the pains to look it up.

The Democratic paper has at last arrived at the stage where it expresses some doubt about the negro being disfranchised. By that it apparently conceded that the Republican party and the Christian element of the Democratic party will not stand for any attempt of those to make them beasts of the field.

Despicable and desperate methods are being indulged in by the Democratic court house ring to gain absolute control of the affairs of the county. Such methods indicate what they would do if they had full power but fortunately for the good of the people of the county, they do not intend to trust them.

How about those fellows a Democratic office holder bought in a recent election? He is trying to raise so much thunder along certain lines, but the Telegram would advise him to look to himself a little. There is such a thing as tables being turned, and we know the fellows who are good and ready to turn them.

The Democratic papers, which denounce the Republicans of the county, for not supporting Harmer for the state senate, seem to have it in for him. They go so far as to intimate that he receives spoils of office. This is the first time he was ever accused of that and no one believes it.

The Democratic mouthpiece has gone so far as to intimate that its own little court house ring, as it terms it, is so corrupt that it needs repudiation. We are with it to the extent that we are for turning it out and not letting another Democratic court house ring in that would be even worse.

Just wait and see the result of the bluff the Democratic court house ring is trying to put up to intimidate voters. There may be some fellows behind the bars, who are doing their level best just now to put others there. There are some surprises in store.

The mouthing has considerable to say about a Republican slate. So it also had before the primary election, but some way or other the people broke that slate and nominated a ticket that suits the Republicans of the county.

The Democratic schemers read the hand-writing on the wall and are becoming so desperate that they are ready to stoop to most any thing. But there is a long lane that has no turn and their turn is coming faster than they dream of. Swift justice will be meted out to them.

The colored man remembers enough, he knows also, that the Telegram is his friend and will defend him from the abuse and slander the Democratic mouthpiece heaps upon him, because it and its unprincipled ilk can not see him in bondage like they used to have him.

Since the News says it is an absolute fact that persons voted who were not entitled to in this county, why does it not come forward with the truth? Have the manhood to make good, but since you can not, have principle enough to shut up.

The Democratic sheet wanting a little ready cash is urging, even insisting that members of its party shall announce themselves for office. Some one ought to accommodate it. It needs the money.

It takes a brazen colored man to face the scorn and contempt of members of his race, when he for some mysterious reason undertakes to turn them over to the Democratic party to be forced back into bondage.
